You can use the TV's remote control and built-in navigation interface to make managing the core apps easier. To make managing the core apps easier, you can use Vizio's Customize App Row feature. This enables you to change the order in which the core apps are displayed on your home screen so that you can group your favorites closer together. Adding and managing apps on Vizio TVs and Home Theater Displays is done differently depending on the system you have. However, if you want to add apps that are not included in the core list or the preselected mobile apps available for immediate casting, you must add them to your smartphone so you can also cast them to the TV, just as you do when using a Chromecast device.
